

Michelle J. Hines Biography

Name: Michelle J. Hines

Place of Birth: Augusta, Georgia

Education: Mercer University, Macon, GA – Bachelor of Science: Biology
South Carolina State University, Orangeburg, SC – Master of Science:
Nutritional Sciences

Credentials: Registered Dietitian

Time in service: 13 years as a Commissioned Officer, U.S. Public Health Service
Commissioned Corps

Previous Work Experiences: 1) Public Health Nutritionist with the of the Richmond County Public Health Department Women, Infants and Children's (WIC) program (1 year); 2) Outpatient Dietitian (5 years) and 3) Supervisory Dietitian (5 years) with the Indian Health Service (Navajo reservation)

Current agency: U.S. Food and Drug Administration

Current position title: Investigator

Current position duties (actual primary duties): Conducted food inspections (1 year); then, transitioned into conducting inspections of clinical investigators, pharmaceutical firms and research institutions who conduct research trials (of investigational drugs, biologics, medical devices and food additives) to determine their compliance with the appropriate Good Clinical Practices (GCPs) (3 years).

Residence: Phoenix, Arizona

Hobbies/Interest: Healthy eating and nutrition; exercise; dance; travel; scrapbooking; and church and sorority activities

Life Philosophy: "Possess what you profess!" Live your life in such a way people know you by your walk."

Family: Married to Rickie Hines