Mentoring website addition is up and running. All members will be asked to enroll at the luncheon as a mentor if interested, or a mentee.

David Bellmont will work with the Construction Section on their finances.

Ideas were discussed for recognizing long term members and volunteers on a local level.

SW Facilities Management Convention is February 17 and 18. We have been provided a free booth, and need volunteers. They also asked that we announce they need speakers. A link has been set up on the website and announcement to members will be included in newsletters and President newsletter. David will obtain materials for the booth to handout.

STEM conference will be January 21 and 22. We have a booth at the conference, and volunteers were coordinated.

Mary,

Hello. Happy New Year! Attached is the Nominations Report for Friday's Meeting.

Melissa,

Hello. Happy New Year! I will not be at the Board or Chapter Meetings on Friday. I reached out to Kyle about running for VP, but I did not get a response. If he is at the meeting on Friday, could you follow up with him? Thanks. Could you also announce that we are looking for candidates for VP? We need to have the slate confirmed by the end of January.

Thanks. Hope to see everyone in February.

Safety Day 2016
Monday & Tuesday
January 25 & 26

Marina Heights
East Parking Lot
Who will be here? 3M
Descriptions of the 4 Safety Topics being Presented

Fall Protection Training: The dangers of working at height are clear, and fall protection is a crucial component of safety in this kind of work environment. OSHA agrees - Fall Protection was the most frequently cited violation in 2013. This technical presentation provides information on the following topics:
• Recognizing OSHA enforceable fall hazards
• ABC’s of Active Fall Protection
• Lifeline Systems, Rescue at Heights & Confined Space

Respiratory/ Silica protection Training: Introduction to Respiratory Protection
In many workplaces, respiratory hazards need to be considered. This approximately 45 minute presentation on respiratory protection starts with the basics and provides information about the following topics:
• Overview of respiratory hazards
• Review of the types and styles of respirator protection
• Elements of a written respiratory protection program
• Basic factors in choosing a respirator
• Overview of the regulations for respiratory protection approval and use
• Care and storage of respirators
• Voluntary Use

Hearing Protection Safety: Because hearing loss can be gradual, happening over a long period of time, we often don’t recognize it’s happening until it’s too late. This is why we must make sound decisions when it comes to protecting our hearing by following our organization’s hearing loss prevention plan, always wearing our hearing protection when required and taking steps to reduce off-job noise hazards. This session will explain how your facility’s hearing conservation program protects you from the harmful effects of noise exposure.

Eye and Face Protection Safety: Our eyes are the organ most vulnerable to occupational and personal injuries. Are face is also very vulnerable to other types of hazards. Examples of these are flying objects, chemical splashes and severe exposure conditions.
• Understand the eye hazards in the workplace
• Understand eye protection practices and behaviors
• Choose and wear the best PPE available

Dear Jitu,

I hope this email finds you well and in anticipation of a great holiday. One of my faculty members, David Grau, is a finalist for a NIOSH research project investigating cumulative health issues as a result of exposure in the construction process. He has been asked to finalize his panel of experts for a Delphi study by mid January. The study would be conducted later in 2016. I wondered if you might know a person on the owner or contractor side of the business who would be an expert in this area and perhaps could participate. The study details are given below. If you have a name, I will have David contact he or she with the details, or alternatively they can fill out the attached letter with your letterhead, sign, and send directly to David.

Thanks for your help!

As part of a prospective research study, we are looking to recruit health and safety experts in owner or contractor organizations with an appreciation for the prevention of long-standing and cumulative health issues in construction, such as exposure to silica particles, welding fumes, or noise.

The expected participation or time commitment of the experts is the following:
1) an initial interview of about 90 minutes, and
2) responses to two or three rounds of surveys, with no more than 30 to 45 minutes per survey

The experts will have the chance to get exposed to the (anonymous) thoughts and ideas of other experts at leading owner and contractor organizations. All data will be treated confidentially, the required approval from the Institutional Review Board (IRB) has been already obtained.
Experts will need to sign and return a letter of participation (a template is attached in this email) in company letterhead. We ask for letters to be signed and returned as soon as possible, and no later than the end of the year if at all possible.

We will appreciate if you can let us know of any experts with the above profile outside or within your organization. For question or comments, please contact Dr. David Grau at mailto:david.grau@asu.edu
