

Needs in the State of Arizona

Applied Underwriters is partnering with National Council on Compensation Insurance, Inc to meet the needs of Workers' Compensation Insurance for companies that are in the Assigned Risk Pool. We are looking for consultants to conduct onsite safety surveys on behalf of Applied Underwriters.

Consultant Requirements

We are looking for experienced safety professionals that have a heart of teaching and helping companies to develop a safe work environment for the company and their employees. The consultant would need to have 5 years' experience, and a designation from Board of Certified Safety Professional (BCSP) or Certified Industrial Hygienist. Additional experience and designations can be considered.

Who is Applied Underwriters

We are located in Omaha Nebraska and started in 1994.

Applied's story starts with workers' compensation insurance. We took a difficult, heavily regulated line of insurance, made it our singular focus, and made it better. We did this by first learning its intricacies and the very real human risk it addresses. We then used that insight to help our customers better manage their risk. This pattern of deep study, considering the human side of risk, seeing opportunities where others see obstacles, and educating customers carried us to new product lines, new challenges, and a global collective of loyal customers and partners.

Our mission

We guide governments, businesses, and people through financial risk by applying unconventional thinking to the conventional tools of insurance, reinsurance, investing, and business services. Digging deeper, applying technology and analytics, finding profitable avenues through even the toughest risks—we help our customers and partners manage uncertainty so they can push confidently toward their highest aspirations.

Our values

From building an entire nature conservatory and sustainability-minded community around our new headquarters, to bringing a struggling U.S. industry back to life, to finding new ways to effectively insure earthquakes and wildfires, Applied always thinks big. That's how we attract top talent and give them the space to do their best work for our customers and partners. They live our core values every day:

Sustainability and human connection

Insurance teaches respect for the natural world—its power and fragility—and it is inextricably linked to the human story behind every risk. Applied takes those lessons to heart and applies them to every new venture we take on.

What is needed

Weekly new companies are identified as policyholders for their Workers' Compensation Insurance needs. The companies in the assigned risk pool are typically new, or have a high mod rate due to the number of injuries, or are in high injury industries. Our job and the job of the consultant is to assist them in developing a safer work environment for their employees. Thru the survey process the intent is lowering the cause and severity of injuries by identifying hazards into two categories Critical or Desirable.

Does your company also perform premium audits?

Why is the survey needed?

Applied Underwriter wants to help employers develop a strong safety environment, with the ultimate goal to assist the company in exiting the assigned risk pool and join the voluntary market.

What is in it for the consultant

Applied Underwriters will contract with you to further your passion on assisting the customers in identifying hazards and guide them in correcting them. Being a 1099 consultant, you will be paid by Applied Underwriter for your services. If you are goal oriented and can meet deadlines that help the companies, we are looking for you.
